Real Estate, Mortgage Loans and Insurance,

HELENA, MONTANA.

To the Rich Who Wish to Become Richer, and to the Frugal, Who, By Economy, Have Saved Small Sums of Money that They Wish to Increase, We Respectfully Submit the Following

FACTS:

FACTS:

ONE OF HELENA'S MOST PROMINENT AND INFLUENTIAL citizens placed in our hands for investment in March, 1888, $2,500. We purchased with this money lots in the Grand Avenue Addition, and a statement rendered August 1, 1889, shows a net profit of $5,000.

A RAILROAD ENGINEER gave us in May last $400 to invest in Helena Realty. We purchased four lots in the Flower Garden Addition. These lots were all sold by August 1, and the net profit to the investor was $335.

A BOOK-KEEPER invested through us $250 in two lots north of the railroads. This purchase was made in April last. The lots were sold through us in July. Net profit, $165.

WE BUILT A DWELLING on the East Side for a gentleman seeking a permanent investment, and upon the completion of the house leased it for him. This investment yields over 20 per cent. net per annum. The above facts are only a few of many such instances.

FINALLY, we handle entire additions and put improvements upon the property we handle. The total number of houses we have built since January 8, 1889, together with those now under contract, amounts to 95. The prospects of Helena to-day are far brighter than they have ever been, hence the opportunities for profitable investment were never better.

WE APPEND a few of the most promising investments we have to offer:

$7 per front foot for 750 feet in the Flower Garden Addition.
$4 " " 500 " " Hersfield Addition.
$12 " " 200 " " Grand Avenue Addition.

400 front feet in Beattie addition.
$200 per acre for 100 acres near city limits.
1 new dwelling on Blake Street.
2 new dwellings on Eighth avenue.
8 new dwellings on Ninth avenue.

LIVED FOR OTHERS

Remarkable Career of Rev. J. Crossett,
An American Father Damien,
Among the Chinese.

A Man Whose Life Was Pure, all his Energies Were Devoted to the Very Poor.

Christ His Exemplar, He was Known as the "Christian Buddha."—Examples
Showing His Character.

The department of state has received from the legation at Peking, China, under date of July 3, an account of the death and extraordinary life work of the Rev. J. Crossett, an independent American missionary in China. His career has been a very remarkable one, characterized by absolute self devotion. He died on the steamer El Dorado, en route from Shanghai to Tientsin, on the 21st of June last. He leaves a widow living at Schuyler, N. Y. In speaking of Mr. Crossett, Minister Denby couples his name with that of Father Damien, the French missionary who lately died on the island of Molokai, and says:—

"Mr. Crossett's life was devoted to doing good to the poorest classes of Chinese. He had charge of a winter refuge for the poor at Peking during several winters. He would go out on the streets the coldest nights and pick up destitute beggars and convey them to his refuge, where he provided them with food. He also buried them at his own expense. He visited all the prisons and often secured the release of removing the sick to his refuge. The officials had implicit confidence in him and allowed him to visit at pleasure all the prisons and charitable institutions. He was known by the Chinese as the 'Christian Buddha.' He was attached to no organization of men. He was a missionary pure and simple, devoted rather to charity than proselytism. He literally took Christ as his exemplar. He travelled all over China and the east. He took no care for his expenses. Food and lodging were voluntarily furnished him. Innkeepers would take no pay from him and private persons were glad to entertain him. It must be said that his wants were few. He wore the Chinese dress, had no regular meals, drank only water and lived on fruit, with a little rice or millet.

"He aimed at translating his ideal, Christ, into reality. He wore long, straight hair, parted in the middle, so as to resemble the picture of Christ. Charitable people furnished him money for his refuge and he never seemed to want for funds. He slept on a board or on the floor. Even in his last hours, being a deck passenger on the El Dorado, he refused to be transferred to the cabin, but the kindly captain, some hours before he died, removed him to a berth, where he died, still speaking of going to heaven and entreating the bystanders to love the Lord.

"As an instance of the character of the man I will state that when on one occasion I gave my annual dinner on Thanksgiving Day to the Americans, Mr. Crossett wrote to me beseeching that I would have my dinner, but would give the cost to the poor. He attended the dinner but touched nothing but water and rice.

"In theology he can hardly be said to have been orthodox. He found good in all religions. After a long conversation with him one day I told him he was not a Christian, but a Buddhist. He answered that there were many good things in Buddhism. The last important work of Mr. Crossett was an effort to provide for the deaf and dumb. To further this object he traveled to Hankow and thence to Canton, establishing everywhere schools for these unfortunate. He was successful wherever he went.

"This man taught the pure love of God and of goodness. He completely sacrificed himself for the good of the poorest of the poor. He acted out his principles to the letter. He was as poor and lived as plainly as the poorest of his patients. On charitable subjects he wrote well. The ideal to him was practical. Let this American, then, be enshrined along with the devoted Frenchman in the annals of men who loved their fellow men."

EYES OF GREAT MEN.

All Remind Us That Steel Blue Is a Very Distinguished Color.

An oculist who has made the human eye a study for thirty years, and who has examined many famous men's eyes, declared the other day to a Philadelphia Press man that the "thoroughbred American" eye was steel blue in color.

"Would you say that black-eyed and brown-eyed men are deficient in intellect?"

"Not that, to be sure, since history has afforded some examples of able men whose eyes possessed this pigment.

But, undeniably, many people of higher civilization eyes grow brighter in hue, and there are to-day far more blue-eyed persons than there were a century ago. If you will be at pains to inquire the color of the eyes of Bismarck, Gladstone, Huxley, Virchow, Bachner, Renan—in fact, any of the living great as well as of the great of the dead who in life distinguished themselves, you will find that most of them have, or had, eyes of blue or gray. HELENA, Oct. 7, 1887.

I was suffering from an unusually bad cough, my lungs were sore and congested, and I consulted one of the best physicians in Helena, whose prescriptions failed to relieve me. I became very weak, and the suggestion of a friend purchased a bottle of Ackert's English Remedy for coughs, and after taking it according to directions was completely cured. I therefore cheerfully recommend it.

lot, one day sold the property for $10,000. He was given a check for that amount, which was carried in due time to one of the banks. The paying teller asked him how much of the money he wanted in cash.

"What! You don't want $10,000 in cash?"

"Jesse, sah,"

"All right," answered the man, and in five minutes he began piling the money on the counter.

As he laid the $500 packages on the counter the negro's eyes grew larger and larger. Finally, when twenty of the packages had been placed before him, he looked intently at them a moment, and then, with a broad grin on his face, said:

"I'st just paralyzed! Gimme a dollar'n' half 'n' you kin keep the rest till I call ag'in."
